

Bill Lockyer, California State Treasurer

CalPERS Board of Administration

Bill Lockyer became an ex officio member of the CalPERS Board of Administration in January 2007 upon his election as California State Treasurer. He serves on the Investment, Finance and Health Benefits Committees.

From 1999-2006, Mr. Lockyer served as California Attorney General and left a lasting legacy at the Department of Justice. In his eight years, he helped revolutionize crime fighting in California by creating and maintaining the nation's most sophisticated DNA forensic crime laboratory. He also cracked down on Medi-Cal fraud, securing hundreds of millions of dollars in court-ordered restitution and penalties, established the Megan's Law website to locate and identify registered sex offenders, and recovered billions of dollars for defrauded energy ratepayers, consumers and taxpayers.

Prior to his election as Attorney General, Mr. Lockyer served in the California Legislature for 25 years. He chaired the Senate Judiciary Committee for nearly a decade and was Senate President Pro Tempore from 1994 to 1998. In that leadership position, Mr. Lockyer crafted agreements to balance the state budget and reform government programs to make them run more efficiently and effectively for taxpayers. In 1986, Mr. Lockyer was named "Legislator of the Year" by The Planning and Conservation League. The California Journal also honored him as its "Legislator of the Year" in 1997.

Mr. Lockyer is a graduate of the University of California, Berkeley. He received a teaching credential from California State University, Hayward and earned a law degree from McGeorge School of Law in Sacramento while serving in the State Senate.

A native Californian, Mr. Lockyer is married to Nadia Maria Lockyer and has a daughter, Lisa, and son, Diego.
